INTRODUCTION

It is now more than 50 years since the Sarawak Specialists Society was established, and the Society journal, The Sarawak Journal, has been issued four times a year ever since. Indexes to the journal were published in the Member's handbook for a number of years, and Claire Watterson produced an index to volumes 1-25 in 1972. My first index was intended to be a 5 volume update to Claire's index but a combination of factors including the purchase of the late Sam Gilmour's run of the journal, an indexing course taught by an eccentric but inspiring lecturer as part of a librarianship course, and a comment made by Ian Hamilton in The Philatelist when reviewing the Journal, made my goal a much more detailed index to v.1-30. It was typed onto offset masters on an IBM electric typewriter and printed by my employer. An index to the next ten volumes was published in 1988 using new technology, an IBM XT computer with word processing software and masters printed on a very expensive laser printer. This new index incorporates both the earlier indexes and has been produced on a Pentium computer using word processing and page layout software. The master sheets have been printed on my home laser printer and will be printed by a commercial printer in either Australia or UK. The draft has been circulated to Society members with electronic mail addresses through the Internet and a few responses and corrections were returned by e-mail. By the time the next index is produced it may well be available in electronic format only on a Compact Disc or a Digital Versatile Disc which could also include a complete set of the Journal. The cost of the disc is likely to be about the same or less than the cost of this index in paper format, and perhaps it will be made available to all members as part of their subscription to the new electronic Sarawak Journal and to philatelists in general through the Society Web site which had its inauguration this year.

Integrating the earlier indexes with an index to the last ten volumes became a large task. Subject headings prepared up to 24 years ago had to be checked for consistency throughout the index. The decision to indicate illustrated items and page ranges instead of just the first page reference meant that all earlier work needed to be rechecked. In this process, some earlier errors have been corrected and I hope that no new ones have been introduced in the 96 pages of references to the 8000 or so pages of the Journal published between 1947 and 1997.

SCOPE OF THE INDEX

All issues from volume 1 to 50 have been indexed, and this index supersedes all earlier indexes. The philatelic content of each issue of the journal has been indexed. Letters to the editor, regular columns, editorials, Society news, and reports of meetings, displays and auctions have all been indexed when appropriate. Items about the four major countries covered by the Sarawak Journal, Brunei, Labuan, North Borneo and Sarawak, have all been indexed, including historical notes, anecdotal reports and newspapers clippings. Much of the postal history of the area is bound up with shipping services and a number of historical figures, and separate sections provide Ships and Names and People listings. Bibliographic details have been added to the Books section where possible to enable users to identify the titles correctly. A few general non-philatelic items have been included in the Miscellaneous section. There has been no attempt to judge material except for corrections where only the corrected subject entry appears. The author index is limited to substantial items, usually of at least one page in length, and it doesn't include letters to the editor. The names and people index is a subject listing not an author listing. By tradition, each issue of the Journal contains an editorial but only a small number have been indexed.

ORGANIZATION OF THE INDEX

The index is arranged by subject. Each reference consists of a volume number and a page number or page range. The major part of the index consists of country sections broken into subdivisions for postage and revenue stamps, postal stationery, and other country related topics. Separate indexes cover towns and their cancellations, ships, people and companies associated with the countries, books, authors and their contributions, miscellaneous and the Society and its publications. In each section, major entries are shown in bold, and subdivisions are shown by indenting or by the use of a comma to indicate the break between the major entry and its subdivision. Illustrated entries have page references in italics. Page ranges are shown where a major reference covers two or more pages or where there is a series of references over consecutive pages. Cross references to other related parts of the index are shown by See also references within the body of some entries and underneath other entries. Cross-references within a major entry are specific to the item directly above, while cross-references at the base of the major entry apply to that entry in general. Entries which are not used have a See reference to the preferred entry term.

Arrangement within each section varies according to the nature of the section. The order is by date of issue for stamps and postal stationery, with subdivision by stamp or stationery denomination then an alphabetical listing. The General Topics sections for each of the major countries are alphabetical but some of the entries include chronologically based sub-divisions, eg history, postal history, postmarks, then an alphabetical listing.

2 INTRODUCTION

Forces post offices and travelling post offices are listed in numerical order in groups arranged by country. The major entries in the Ships, Names and Towns and Cancellations are arranged alphabetically letter-by-letter. The Society section is grouped by major entries such as Meetings, Membership, Office Bearer's reports and Publications. References to new members and changes of address, included in previous indexes, have been omitted.

Each entry is specific and the user should seek the desired topic not the general subject area. For example, a search for information on the pre-war postmarks of Kuching should be sought under by looking at the entries for Kuching in Towns and Cancellations rather than Sarawak: General Topics Postmarks. A typical town entry is shown in the box on this page.

NOTES ON ENTRIES

Cachet: This word has been used to indicate hand-stamped markings, typically those used on registered mail, and on Government Department mail to indicate its source. Registration cachets are listed separately

CDS: Entries are typically broken down by date, by the number of external rings in the cancellation, by the appearance of code letters, stars or the country name in the mark, by the appearance of the date in the mark, and by the use of the mark eg for registration, First day of issue (Hari Pertama), or emergency use (skeletons). The Australian type postmarks used during the BMA period are also indicated separately. The postmarks introduced in the period between 1970 to the 1990s have not been indexed by manufacturer because this would have required an illustrated guide to CDS types. In general these postmarks are single line date types and they can be found by looking at these entries.

Description: In the Towns and Cancellations section, these entries refer to descriptions of the towns many of them produced in a popular series of articles by Alan Dant.

Forces post offices: The Towns and Cancellations listing is a complete list by number and issuing authority. The entries in the Country sections are for FPOs associated with the country. Entries include abbreviations which appear in their postal markings. FPO is usually Field Post Office; UPS Unit Postal Station; AFPO Air Force Post Office; APO Army Post Office; BFPO British Field Post Office

Mobile post offices: The entries in the Towns and Cancellations section are under the designation in the cancellation. It may consist of either English or Malay words or their abbreviation eg PPB, Wakil Pos, MPO and TPO all refer to Mobile post offices. There are cross-references between many of these different entries

Postal agencies: Agencies offer a minimum range of services according to their classification. Many have no postal or registration markings.

NOTES ON THE PAGINATION TABLE:

1. Volume one was titled "Sarawak News Sheet" and did not have cumulative pagination. References to this volume include the issue number as well as volume and page number e.g. 1/2/5 for Volume 1 Issue 2 Page 5.
2. This issue includes two pages with 'a' numbers, 27a and 28a
3. This issue included a survey and questionnaire on the two 1883 8c issues of North Borneo
4. In Volume 36 the News and Notes section was included as a liftout section and not bound into each issue
5. This issue included an offset printed supplement to show the possible effects of changed printing methods for the Journal
6. The pages were incorrectly numbered 1 to 42 and a set of labels numbered 47-88 was included with the next issue
7. The dates of issues from Volume 40 onwards were designated by seasons eg Autumn, Winter etc instead of months
